2.2 SCHOOL OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

The School of Social Sciences was created in the year 2009 with an innovative and creative idea to engage with an interdisciplinary approach to academic activities. Presently there are three Departments under this School, i.e., Department of Anthropology, Department of Sociology and Department of Economics.

2.2.1 DEPARTMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGY

Department of Anthropology functioning at this University since 2009 is engaged in the teaching and application of knowledge in every major area of the discipline. Anthropology as a subject provides the students the means to understand and respect the variety in human experiences and develop a critical perspective on society and on current public policy and reform. This is achieved through a rigorous and balanced curriculum that encompasses the current theoretical perspectives and methodologies of the discipline. Anthropology is unique and effective among fields that examine human behaviour because of its particularly intensive techniques of participant-observation research, its use of both qualitative and quantitative methods, and its ability to bring together a comparative and global perspective and the time depth of five million years of prehistory to the investigation of human problems. In response to an increasingly complex global job market and anticipated areas of employment growth, the Department prepares students for career success through specific concentrations in Applied Anthropology.
